

Quantum Reflex Analysis

Many scientists today believe the secret to regenerative healing lies in the body's own Quantum Energy Bio-field. Quantum Reflex Analysis (QRA) is a kinesiology exam of the body's bio-field using the Japanese Bi-Digital O ring patented by Dr. Omura.

The acupuncture meridian system is tested to identify the health and energy flow of the entire bio-energetic field. When the body's delicate energetic field, or bio-field, is disrupted or imbalanced, it becomes deactivated and is unable to function as efficiently as it was designed. The symptom's an individual notices are a sign that there is an energetic imbalance.

Using QRA and the acupuncture meridian system, any imbalances can be identified in the various organs and glands of the bio-field. These imbalances disrupt the energetic flow of the body. Imbalances are caused by:

- Nutritional deficiency
- Toxicity from bacteria, viruses, and environmental toxins
- Physical or emotional trauma to the bio-field, blunt force or surgical

When energy in the organ or gland is low it will test weakly and we will find the nutrient or detoxification product needed to up-regulate the energy and turn the organ or gland on so it is strengthened and able to function properly. Imbalances worsen over time weakening the organ or gland and if not corrected, can cause a domino effect or ill health throughout the body.

What we at Live Well love most about QRA include:

- No nonsense in putting nutrition in the body that you may not need.
- Reads the exact amount of a nutrient the individual needs.
- Customized nutrition and detoxification program specific to the individual.
- The bio-field is so sensitive that any imbalances can be read long before they can become symptomatic.
- QRA gets to the root cause of an individual's symptoms. Then the cause can be treated using natural remedies that will allow the body to heal itself.

Many physicians worldwide use QRA in their practices. Dr. Albert W. Cook, Professor of Neurosurgery at State University of New York, testified in support of Dr. Omura's application for the Bi-Digital O-ring for the imaging and diagnosing of internal organs of patients. "I consider the Bi-Digital O-ring test to be a significant contribution for both basic and clinical medicine.

I have witnessed many clinical situations where standard laboratory tests failed to localize hidden medical problems due to limitations of present standard laboratory procedures, where the Bi-Digital O-Ring Test often provided a simple, quick and accurate diagnosis non-invasively, as well as serving in selection of effective treatment and evaluation of therapeutic effects of any treatment, without depending upon expensive, bulky instruments or time consuming, invasive tests."
